Interreg: 4 strands developing future perspectives and visions

This session is planned as panel bringing together the views of programmes and regions. Panel will gather representatives from the programmes covering four Interreg strands and several representatives of regions. Firstly, we want to initiate a vivid debate along the why for Interreg; secondly, we want to brainstorm about options to make it work better.

12:15 – 13:30

The discussion will revolve along three key areas:

- 1) Initial reflections on the value added and meaning of cooperation for regions
- 2) Outlook to the coming decade: Interreg as a strategic instrument - What are the most pressing issues for cooperation?
- 3) Interreg as a cooperation instrument: How can we make it better and simpler? The audience is invited to raise questions to the panelists (either via Slido or in person).

11:10 – 12:20 The year 2024 marks the start of debates on EU Cohesion Policy post-2027. The Croatian EUSAIR Presidency has set itself an objective to provide formats to support debates on this topic in the Adriatic and Ionian Region and to identify key messages in this respect.

Šibenik I

The aim of this High Level Panel is to provide room for debate and discussion on major trends and policy developments that will shape cooperation in the Adriatic and Ionian Region in the future. Despite being one of the most successful trademarks of the European Union, Cohesion policy is constantly under pressure and severely underfunded, something that all of us should strive to change.

Panelists will be invited to discuss how the Cohesion Policy and related pre-accession policies could contribute best to enhancing cooperation in the Adriatic and Ionian Region on the identified challenges and potentials. Which policy fields and priorities are expected to gain importance at EU level in the years to come? What is their relevance for the Adriatic and Ionian Region? How can they be used to answer the cooperation needs?

EUSAIR Pillar 5: Stronger Social Cohesion - A Response to the Challenges of the Future

14:00 – 15:00

Šibenik XI

The time of economic and social challenges affects the entire Adriatic-Ionian region. In order to meet these challenges, it is important to strengthen social cohesion. The principles of the European Pillar of Social Rights are a roadmap towards a strong social Europe, Europe that is fair and inclusive. Encouraged by the launching of this new area of cooperation within EUSAIR, we believe that through joint action we can respond with clear vision and actions to the challenges ahead. Pillar 5 panel focuses on the newly established Pillar 5. What are the main topics of the Pillar, and how they are connected to the EU cohesion policy.

Which challenges does the Pillar 5 address, what are the obstacles and how to connect Pillar topics and EUSAIR Action plan with the mainstream programmes. Panel should also, give the insight into how the candidate country sees the opportunity to co-ordinate the Pillar 5. The objective of Pillar sessions is to show the stakeholders where they fit into the Strategy, because for most actions, results can only be achieved in cooperation.

Part 1: Simplified Cost Options in practice in Interreg IPA Programmes – Future potentials for Interreg IPA Programmes

14:00 – 18:00

Šibenik

Simplification is increasingly important in implementing Cohesion policy as means to tackle administrative costs and burden - to improve the access to the funds and their good use by public authorities, enterprises, universities, civil society organisations in Europe. Simplified Cost Options (SCOs) and Financing Not Linked to Costs (FNLC) are one of these simplification measures introduced in the European Structural and Investment Funds (ESIF). Key findings of the study "Simplified Cost Options in practice in Interreg IPA Programmes" conducted for the DG REGIO will be discussed. The workshop will highlight practical, replicable examples of SCO applications in Interreg-IPA programmes to provide food for thought for further SCO applications in territorial cooperation programmes. In addition, there will be room to initiate thinking about the future of SCOs in territorial cooperation programmes – what are particularities and needs of Interreg IPA programmes to benefit fully from simplification options provided by SCO.

Part 2: Simplified Cost Options in practice in Interreg IPA Programmes – From IPA to Cohesion Policy

Referring to the Granada Declaration, stock needs to be taken of preparations for enlargement and internal reforms, considering that work on both tracks is advancing in parallel to ensure that both future Member States and the EU are ready at the time of accession. In this perspective, the

| 14:00 – 17:00 Šibenik VI | In the year 2010 UNESCO declared the Mediterranean Diet an Intangible Cultural Heritage. Mediterranean Diet is a lifestyle that is profoundly oriented towards health, environmental sustainability and emphasizing its cultural and social roots. There is a strong need to promote and safeguard the Mediterranean Diet in the Adriatic-Ionian Region in order to ensure that traditional food production and consumption patterns are not eroded by globalization. This All Round Table, organized by Forum of the Adriatic and Ionian Chambers of Commerce (Forum AIC) and Cities (FAIC), lays the groundwork for an integrated and collaborative approach to promote a sustainable food model that respects the environment and health, as stated in the Joint Declaration of the three All civil society Fora (Split Declaration of 14 May 2024). |

EUSAIR Youth Council event: Navigating our Future: Empowering Youth to shape the Adriatic and Ionian Region through EUSAIR Youth Council

15:30 – 17:00

Šibenik V

The objective of this panel session is to explore the intersection of youth engagement and regional development within the framework of the EU Strategy for the Adriatic and Ionian Region (EUSAIR). By integrating young people's voices into the discussion, we aim to highlight the relevance of EUSAIR's objectives to youth and societal challenges, emphasizing the need for mechanisms such as the EUSAIR Youth Council in regional development. The session will highlight how the Youth Council can play a pivotal role in promoting youth employment in sustainable industries, enhancing digital literacy and green energy initiatives, advocating for sustainable transportation systems, and pushing for fairer access to future job markets. The discussion intends to foster a dialogue between youth and other relevant stakeholders around the challenges in the region, and their perspective on them.

EUSAIR Pillar 3: Blue and Green Corridors: implementation of TSG 3 EUSAIR flagships, with Interreg IPA ADRIION

16:30 – 17:30

Šibenik XI

EUSAIR Flagship projects are designed to support and demonstrate the progress of the Strategy, and may serve as pilot examples for desired action in an EUSAIR Pillar. As such, the flagship projects aim at supporting participating in achieving resilience and growth enhancing reforms and outstanding cooperation of all countries on the particular challenge. Flagships projects of Pillar 3 are: Sustainable development of the coastal and maritime zones (ICZM&MSP), Protection and enhancement of natural terrestrial habitats and ecosystems (PET HAB ECO), Monitoring and management of marine protected species (3MSP), and Transnational Contingency plan in the event of accidents at sea (ASOSCoP).

UniAdrion Conference: Civic Engagement of Students: Collaborating with Universities for Global Impact - The Best Practice of ESN-AIR

17:00 – 18:30

Šibenik XI

This event will focus on the vital nexus of civic engagement among students and their collaboration with universities, spotlighting their unique contributions to global societal advancement. With a specific emphasis on the participation of students, it will seek to illuminate innovative strategies, exchange best practices, and address pertinent challenges in fostering their civic engagement within university environments. Through interactive discussions, case studies, and practical insights, participants will explore avenues for enhancing the integration, empowerment, and active involvement of students in local and global community initiatives. Let's explore how collaboration between universities and students can amplify social impact and contribute to building inclusive, interconnected, and resilient societies worldwide!

POPRI - Entrepreneurial Meetup and networking event Why becoming an entrepreneur?

18:00 – 19:30

Šibenik V

The best way to learn is to meet with experienced entrepreneurs and listen to their stories. Young people have the opportunity to meet Dr. Aleš Ekar and a Croatian entrepreneur (tbc). They will both share their knowledge and experience in the field of entrepreneurship, because we know that success stories can be an inspiration for young people; but failures are also part of our lives. Maria Mesarić, young POPRI ambassador, will present her entrepreneurial experience and share it with her peers.

Procurement challenges and opportunities for INTERREG IPA Programmes – Final Conference

9:00 – 12:00
 Šibenik
 The workshop will be organised by PricewaterhouseCoopers, supported by DG REGIO services, as part of an EU-funded project that aims to improve quality and transparency of public procurement in non-EU countries, especially when participating in Interreg IPA programmes. It is addressed to Interreg stakeholders dealing with procurement and builds on conclusions from a first workshop organised on 22 January 2024.

The workshop will present good procurement practices, roadmaps and lessons learnt in Interreg IPA programmes, and allow participants to share comments and experiences. An e-library of Interreg IPA public procurement practices will be presented.

Sharing of public procurement good practices should yield a number of tangible benefits for those involved (contracting authorities, economic operators, managing authorities etc.) leading to improved efficiency and effectiveness, better value-for-money, price indexations where necessary, less irregularities and less administrative burden. Doing so will help IPA beneficiaries' management and control systems. In this context, the national authorities should also build stronger partnerships among programmes' stakeholders, particularly with beneficiaries, including through more customised approaches.

EUSAIR Pillar 2 Subgroup Energy: Renewable Energy to Confront the Climate Change Challenge - Projects, Opportunities for Cooperation and Action for the Adriatic and Ionian Region

While shaping the future of the EUSAIR participating Countries have a leading objective in their energy policies and programmes which is the accelerated transition towards decarbonised energy systems to confront the global climate change challenge. This transition should happen by enhancing security of energy supply and delivery, granting affordable and equitable energy access for all citizens and consumers.

9:00 – 10:00

Šibenik XI

According to the energy goals of The European Green Deal, REPowerEU, the Green Agenda for the Western Balkans the effort and drive on renewable energies should be immense during the next decade with implications for industry, economy and energy governance through the Adriatic and Ionian Region.

The Session will focus on these aspects while trying to highlight opportunities for an improved co-operation between and amongst Countries from the Adriatic and Ionian Region. New technologies and market structures would imply a new organisation of the energy systems and new forms of public acceptance and involvement.

Moderated by Biljana Ramić, EUSAIR Pillar 2 Coordinator; Head, Unit for Strategies, Programmes and Plans, Ministry of Mining and Energy, Belgrade, The Republic of Serbia.

EUSAIR Pillar 2 Subgroup Transport: Interoperable rail infrastructure and services to increase the rail connectivity in the Adriatic-Ionian Region

Transport plays a fundamental role in the enlargement of the European Union. The integration of transport networks reduces trade barriers and facilitates the movement of people, goods and services, thus promoting competitiveness and stimulating economic growth and prosperity for all parties involved.

The recent creation of the Western Balkans European Transport Corridor has paved the way upgrading rail connections in the Western Balkans. However, despite the tangible benefits offered by this initiative, their implementation remains a formidable challenge, whose success requires significant investments by the EU to improve connectivity and accessibility and, considerable efforts by IPA Countries to aligning regulations to EU standards.
